ABSTRACT

Rahim, Rikka. 2024. Histrionic personality disorder in the Means Girl Movie. Pshycological Approach. Thesis. English Literature Study Program. Faculty of Law and Social Humanities. Flores University. Supervisor I: Fransiskus M. Separ, S.S., M.Pd. Supervisor II: Maksimilianus S.S., M.Pd.

This study aimed at finding out the symptoms and types of histrionic personality disorder seen in the movie "Means Girl". This research uses the theory of Humairoh and Millon 'et al' to analyze the symptoms and types of histrionic personality disorder, and a psychological approach is also used in this research. The Method used in this research was descriptive qualitative. In this research the data is taken from quotations in the form of words, phrases, sentences, dialogue and actions.

The results of this research answer two main problems. There are five symptoms of histrionic personality disorder found in this film, namely uncomfortable feelings in situations where the sufferer does not become the center of attention, inappropriate sexually seductive or provocative behavior, display rapidly shifting and shallow expression of emotions, employing physical appreciation to attract people's attention. Behave theatrically or self dramatization. And to the types of histrionic personality disorder are the vivacious type and the tempestuous types
